Provincial Table No. V.

5. The Mussalman subjects of the Rajputana States, that is to say Mussalmans inclusive of those living in the Central India portions of Tonk, and exclusive of those inhabiting the detached areas of Central India in Meywar, amount in all to 1,005,757. Of these 980,398 are Sunnis, 20,143 are Sihas, and 5,216 are unspecified: in other words, out of every 1,000 Mussalmans, 974·8 are Sunnis, 20 are Sihas, and 5·2 are unspecified. The greatest number of Mussalmans are found in the following Political charges:—

(i) Western Rajputana States Residency . . .	215,238
(ii) Jeypore Residency	208,330
(iii) Alwar Agency	180,426

Sihas are found in the greatest numbers in the Meywar Residency, where they number 10,267, of whom 7,300 are in Meywar itself; the Eastern States Agency comes next with 3,770, Bhartpur containing 3,078 of them.

6. It may here be mentioned that the proportion of Mussalman subjects of Tonk to the total population of that State, which for the Rajputana portion alone is 15 per. cent., falls, with the Central India portion included, to 12 per cent. Abstract No. 1 shews the distribution of the Sihas and Sunnis among the several units and Census divisions, also the female ratio for each sect.

The Sihas shew a higher female ratio than the Sunnis, namely 975 to 885, the proportion being specially high in Alwar 1,367, Bharatpur 1,248, Sirohi 1,063, Dungarpur 1,054, and Karauli 1,000.

7. The highest female ratios among the Sunnis are 970 in Tonk and 964 in Banswara. The figures in this abstract do not take into account the Central India portion of Tonk, but include the small Central India areas in Meywar.

In the Doda, Sikarwal and Sengar clans, now of little note and insignificant in numbers, the females are in excess of the males.

13. In considering the female ratios in the Census divisions and Territorial units it has to be borne in mind that in accordance with Rajput custom wives have been entered in the enumerators' schedules by their fathers' and not their husbands' clans, and therefore, speaking generally, where the female ratios of a clan are the lowest and highest there the daughters of the clan have been given and received in marriage, respectively.

Lastly, the Kachâwah girls of Jeypore and Alwar, where the female ratio of the clan is 376 and 563, have been given in marriage to other clans, mostly Rahtore, residing in Kota, Kishengarh, Marwar, Bundi and Karauli, where the Kachawah female ratio stands at, from 1,254 to 2,487.

15. As rulers over the greatest number of subjects, the Rajput clans stand in the order below:—

Clan.	Number of subjects.
Kachawah	3,600,063
Rahtore	3,477,339
Sesodia	2,030,477
Chohan	1,010,827
